What To Consider When Looking For a Hearing Aid

Prescription hearing aids are medical devices that can be purchased through a hearing professional (audiologist, hearing aid specialist, or ENT). While over the counter options exist, it is recommended to see a specialist to achieve the best possible fit for your individual needs. Hearing aids, like any other medical device, should be carefully considered before making a treatment selection. Some things to consider helping you find the device that is right for your hearing and lifestyle needs.

- 1.) Get your hearing tested.
- 2.) Knowing the types of treatment.
- 3.) Your desires and priorities.
- 4.) Trial Periods.
- 5.) Battery Usage and rechargeables.
- 6.) Features and Tech.
- 7.) Support after your purchase.
- 8.) Cost.

Hearing Better is Possible

Today's hearing aids analyze hearing situations solely on acoustic criteria, then classify them into a small range of predefined "acoustic environments". But when people rely on their senses to keep them safe and sound, hearing clearly in every situation is a must; especially when they're on the job and moving through the day, where environments can change quickly.

Our latest most advanced hearing aids use proven technology to automatically recognize and adapt to more hearing situations than ever. This ensures users automatically hear speech clearer and get the most reliable impression of their environment. Our hearing aids are designed to be durable, practical and easy-to-use, so you can rely on them in any situation. Some of these cutting-edge features include:

- High Resolution SoundPro
- Motion Sensor
- My Voice
- Streaming
- Smart Phone App
- Rechargeable
- Worry Free Lifestyle With 3-year Warranty
- 60 Day Risk Free Trial on Most Hearing Aids
- Premium Noise and Wind Reduction

It's a tough world out there, and even tougher when your hearing starts to go. At Mid-America Hearing Center, we won't let hearing loss hold you back. Good hearing is critical: From getting the job done, to getting home safely and being there for the people who count on you, we know what's at stake.
